We are requested by the Good Templars to publish the following Essay, which was read in the Lodge at this post, on Tuesday evening, January 3d, by Fred. Livingston, Company B, 3d Batt. Inf., C. V.:

Brethren of Garrison Lodge, No. 65, I. O. of G. T.:—The cause which calls us together and that calls upon me to read an essay is a serious and noble one, that should inspire the heart of man and touch his lips with fiery eloquence. But most unfortunately I am almost wholly unprepared to say anything but what has been said before. So much has been said upon the subject of Temperance, and by so many abler tongues than mine that I fear that my penning may seem uninteresting, therefore I crave your kind indulgence, and if per chance in my remarks I should fall short of your expectations, and you deem my effort an odd one, please attribute it to the fact of my weakness not will.

Statesmen tell us that Governments are formed amongst men "from the impulse of reason and through a sense of their wants and weakness." And the same learned authors also tell us that "the only true and natural foundations of society, are the wants of individuals." From these indisputable causes Governments originate. Governments are but societies formed for certain ends. Governments, such as our own, when well regulated and properly administered, protect the weak from the tyranny and encroachments of the strong; through its agency, life, liberty and property in the individual member is protected, crimes prevented or avenged, and thus through the majesty and mysterious workings of law, we frequently behold the individual that nearly all join in loathing, as safe in the midst of that society in the enjoyment of all his natural rights as the most popular. But the best and noblest of all earthly Governments, such as our own, with all its completeness, is found on trial to still be deficient in some things, to come up fully to the wants and necessities of society. While it guards with jealous care the liberties of its members, redresses their grievances of a pecuniary nature, and punishes crime, still other evils, of even a more harrowing nature, stalk in our midst, for which there is no legal remedy. We see widowhood and orphanage pining for bread; we hear of domestic wrong; we see the strong man bowed in sorrow to the earth by misfortune, and for all these miseries the law furnishes no paliation. Kindred evils too numerous to mention, inspired the minds of the philanthropic and good to organize societies of this character; and in the workings of this noble Order of Good Templars throughout the civilized world, we behold the ripe fruits of our thoughts and our labors. Our mission is Faith, Hope and Charity.

We first select with care, from the great family of Nations, those we deem trusty, honorable men—none other are made permanent members. Thus selected, through the mysteries of our Order we have woven a web of Friendship and Love, so knit that it binds all Good Templars in Faith, Hope and Charity to each other; that if, indeed the adopted brother is the man of honor and truth we suppose him to be, that tie becomes unseparable, extending to the great fellowship of this society.

Our organization is intended to knit in close companionship the souls of men who become members of our Order, to raise and cheer the lowly; to relieve the sick; to fill as nearly as may be done the void left in the widow and orphan's heart by the death of the husband and father. We rear in every land our Temples; when reared they become the council halls of our brotherhood, and beacons of our love. Men meet here not as men meet in business marts, in courts of justice, or legislative halls—but here men meet as brothers. The mad ruling passions of men that divide them in society, the enmities that rivalry excite, should all fall from their hearts at the door of this room as a mantle falls from our shoulder; and stepping within its hallowed portals, the outstretched hand is grasped, and the hallowed word "Brother" falls from each lip. All the unhallowed passions should dash their surges in vain about the foundations of our temples. He that would thus bear any of them—or their taint about him here, should, like an unclean thing, be at once removed. Here, men should, in one sense, learn parliamentary customs and form of social debate. It in another sense, forms a forum in which men's minds are fitted for public life. They find here rest from care, relief from continued caution and suspicion, freedom in love, and fellowship as complete as that which their artless childhood knew. They see around them none but brothers; those that love and should continue to love them through life, that should be as jealous and careful of their honor and good name and that of their families as they themselves are of their own. They know that this brotherhood will not permit them unhonored and unwept to sink into an unknown, a pauper's or a drunkard's grave; but that the holy hand of brotherly love and friendship will bear their bier in truth to the last resting place and drop a tear. How holy and happy the thought, that let come what may in the shape of poverty or misfortune in life, let friends desert and relatives die, still a brotherhood loving still stronger in adversity's hour, numbering this day its thousands, aye, and more than thousands, will on to death clasp the hands of the unfortunate in love and pour the balm of Faith, Hope and Charity unceasingly upon the bruised heart.

Second thoughts are the best; man was God's first thought; woman his second.

SATURDAY MORNING, JAN. 14, 1865.

A Prophecy.

We know a merchant in Salt Lake City who threatens to control the mercantile business of Utah, and freeze out those who are not obedient to his master's counsel, and who, some time since, withdrew his patronage from the VEDETTE, because, forsooth, it commented on the disloyal teachings of the Lion of the Lord. We understand Brigham has a mortgage on his fine store to the amount of seventy thousand dollars. If such is the fact, we'll venture the prophecy that the lion will own the building before eighteen months. We request our readers to take a note of this prophecy, for we, too, claim to be prophets; and why not? are we not all decendants of Adam and Eve, and has not "our" course through life been as rightous and God fearing as that of Brigham Young "or any other man?".

We are informed by one of our Salt Lake subscribers that not less than forty of his neighbors borrowed and read his VEDETTE, one day last week, and when asked why the people did not take the paper themselves, when they are so eager to peruse its columns, they answered that they were afraid to do so, as they were strictly forbidden by counsel to take or read it. It has come to a pretty pass when a people, living under the broad banner of our Republic, cannot read a loyal paper without the consent of a corrupt and disloyal priesthood.

DRAMATIC READING AT CAMP TO-NIGHT.—We are gratified to announce that Mr. Stark has kindly volunteered to give one of his dramatic readings at the CAMP THEATER, THIS EVENING, at 7 1-2 o'clock.

BY PACIFIC TELEGRAPH.

[SPECIAL TO THE DAILY UNION VEDETTE.]

New York, January 12th.

The steamer C. C. Collins, from Port Royal, the 7th, has arrived. A part of Sherman's army had arrived at Beaufort by water. The Richmond Enquirer of the 9th says, no man would be safe in Virginia who dared to exhibit the least willingness to reconstruct the Union upon the most favorable terms. The people of this State have taken Gen. Sherman at his word and mean to fight it out like men, and they ought to hang any man, be he Congressman, Legislator, Common Councilman or private citizen, who exhibits the first act towards submission or reconstruction, and we believe they will do it.

Chicago, Jan. 12th.

Nothing of importance has transpired in Congress during the Session, as yet. The House has been engaged for the greater portion of the time in discussing the amendment to the Constitution of abolishing slavery, and the debate continues to-day. It is not likely that the vote will be reached this week.

St. Louis, Jan. 11th.

In Missouri the Constitutional Convention Committee on the emancipation, report the following Ordinance at noon which has just passed the Convention by a vote of sixty to four: Be it ordained by the people of the State of Missouri, in Convention assembled, that hereafter in this State there shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except in punishment of crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted; and all persons who are held to service or labor as slaves are hereby declared free.

Head-Quarters Army Potomac,
January 9th.

Several rebel deserters came in to-day besides a large number of contrabands. All were in the most wretched condition. They report that the rebel cavalry have withdrawn to Hickford, on the Weldon railroad, where they have gone into winter-quarters. They were compelled to fall back to this point, owing to the lack of forage between there and Ream's station; also, for the lack of transportation, owing to the destruction of the railroad in that district by Warren. They, however, have pickets as far as Reams' station and on the west side of Harper's run with a Division of Hill's corps located on the Boydstown plank road. The rebels have been very busy preparing the railroad north of Hicksford for the relaying of the rails, but as yet none has been put down.

New York, Jan. 12th.

The latest advices from Mexico state that Maximilian has issued a manifesto directing the revision by his Ministry of the titles and claims under which ecclesiastical property has been for some time held, and in effect, declaring that it belongs to the State; that it is in the province of the Government to exercise superior control over it. It appears that he opened negotiations with the Pope while in Rome on the subject, but to his great surprise finds that Nunco has just arrived in Mexico without any instructions in the matter. He therefore boldly adopts his own policy, and it is said it was received with enthusiasm.

Five thousand of the Belgian Legion had reached Mexico, and more were coming.

Nothing later from St. Domingo.

The Commercial's special says: The Bankrupt Law will be passed next week by the Senate, and if it is amended by the House the Senate will adopt the amendment.

Washington, Jan. 12th.

In the Senate, the Chairman laid before the Senate a message from the President giving information as to an agreement between the United States and Great Britain concerning the naval force on the lakes, which was ordered to be printed.

Trumbull, from the Judiciary Committee, to whom was referred the resolution instructing that Committee to inquire if further legislation was necessary to authorize the President to call an extra session of Congress without giving sixty days notice, reported and asked to be discharged. Trumbull said they could find no law requiring the President to give sixty days notice—no notice whatever was required by law.

Wilson offered the following, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Committee on the Conduct of the War be directed to inquire into the causes of the failure of the late expidition to Wilmington, and report back to the Senate.

On motion of Mr. Sumner, the Senate proceeded to the consideration of the resolution to report on the reciprocity treaty. Howe took the floor in opposition to the repeal. Morrill advocated the repeal. Hale argued against the repeal, stating his advantange had been reciprocal, and after a few remarks, moved to refer the subject to the Committee on Finances.

Mr. Doolittle explained why he should vote for the revision of the new revenue system of the government, and demanded an abrogation of the treaty. Wilson said he had prepared an amendment instead of repealing the treaty, and moved that a commission be appointed to make a new treaty. Further remarks on the subject were made by Conness, Riddle, and Hendricks. The two former in favor and the latter against the repeal. A motion to refer the subject to the Judiciary Committee was lost. The yeas and nays were then called on the passage of the revision, which was adopted, yeas thirty-one, nays eight.

In the House, Mr. Elliott introduced a substitute for the bill to reorganize the rebel states, providing that none of them shall be allowed to resume their political relations until the loyal citizens organize a government, republican in form and forever prohibiting involuntary servitude, and further providing, that Louisiana shall resume her political relations under her constitution, adopted in April, 1864, which was ordered to be printed.

The House resumed its discussion on the proposed constitutional amendment.

New York, Jan. 12th.

It is announced that McClellan leaves for his European tour in the first week in February. He has declined the offer of a private vessel, tendered by his friends. He leaves in the steamer China, and will be absent two years.

The Herald thinks that the conduct of Missouri in passing the Emancipation Act will soon be imitated by Arkansas, Kentucky, Tennessee and Delaware.

The World says: The passage of the ordinance was a wise step, resulting from a clear sighted perception of the tendency of events, and thinks if the war were to end to-morrow and the States to return te jurisdiction over the subject, all would follow the example of Maryland and Missouri.

The Tribune is briefly exultant, and makes no comment.

The Post points out the advantages possessed by laborers and manufacturers under the new system.

The Commercial thinks the action of Missouri is argumented in favor of the passage of the constitutional amendment.

Gen. Butler, in his farewell address to the army of the James, pays a high compliment to the conduct of his troops on the field and in camp, saying they have captured forts which the enemy deemed impregnable, and held them against the fiercest assaults. He asserts that their lines of defense were unsurpassed in strength and are objects of universal admiration, and says he has refused to order the useless sacrifice of his soldiers, knowing their willing obedience and devotion to their country's cause. A portion of his address is directed to the colored troops, of whose bravery and fidelity he speaks in the warmest terms.

Cairo, Jan. 12th.

Forrest is represented as concentrating a large force at Paris, Tennessee. Great numbers of his men are hovering around their homes in Tenn. and Kentucky, conscripting, robbing and murdering Union men.

Rumors prevail of a force being organized to attack Paducah again.

The steamer Armeda, from Evansville, Ind., reports Uniontown, Ky. in possession of guerrillas, who were firing into the passing steamers, and robbing and murdering the people.

Washington, Jan. 12th.

A vote on the Anti-slavery Constitutional ammendment will probably be taken in the House this week. Indications are they will be close. Its friends are not yet satisfied that its result will be favorable to them.

Admiral Farragut visited the Senate to-day, in company with Capt. Drayton, commander of the Admiral's flag ship. The Senate took a recess of ten minutes to afford the Senators opportunity of an interview with that distinguished officer. The Admiral afterwards visited the House, where many members were introduced to him.

New York, Jan. 12th.

Deserters from the rebel gunboat Richmond, report that craft lying near Chapin's Bluff, on the James river, with scarcely a sufficient complement of men to work her. Desertions among her men had been numerous within the month past.

New York, Jan. 13th.

Admiral Lee, commanding the Mississippi sqadron, details to the Navy Department in an official dispatch, the facts regarding the escape across the Tennessee river at Bainbridge, six miles above Florence, Ala., of the remnants of Hood's defeated and demoralized army. The Admiral says, only the sudden falling of the water and prevalent fog enabled the rebels to elude the gunboats. All the pontoons and other means of crossing below Bainbridge were destroyed and thousands of Hood's men were consequently scattered through the woods on the north side of the river. The Admiral encloses a dispatch which he received from Gen. Thomas, dated Pulaski, Tenn., Dec. 29th, in which the latter sums up so far as then known, to have been Hood's losses in men and artillery, from the time he crossed the Tenn. northward, and puts them down at nineteen general officers, 14,000 men killed and wounded, and captured seventy pieces of artillery. Rather singular though, he doesn't include in this account Hood's killed and wounded in the two day's battle before Nashville on the 15th and 16th.

The Tribune's Montreal correspondent says of the origin of the rumor of the probable recognition after the 4th of March next of the Southern confederacy by England and France, that Dudley Mann had written to Sanders, that he, Slidell, had learned from D. L. Hugo that it was the Emperor's intention to recognize the Confederacy in the Spring, but there was little or no hope of England uniting in this scheme. Out of this on dit of Mann's was manufactured the story of the positive determination of the two powers to come to the help of the rebels.

The Herald's Shenandoah Valley correspondent mentions a rumor that Sheridan is to have a new and very important command.

Details of the Union raid of Col. Robinson from Fort Barancas, Florida, to Pollard, Ala., show it to have been very successful. The rebels attempted to check his advance, but were badly beaten and lost heavily.

Gen. Granger, on the 22d ult., was within 28 miles of Mobile. His forces also had met with great success in operations from Mobile Bay to Jackson, Miss.

The Richmond papers are growing more bold daily, in denunciation of Jeff Davis and in demanding the appointment of Lee to the supreme command of the armies.

The Examiner of the 9th says: Jeff's course is fast whirling the Confederacy to destructions.

Delegates from the Indians in alliance with the rebels, visited Shreveport, La., on the 13th of Dec., to obtain permission to ship cotton to provide for their necessities, and to arm Indians in the rebel service.

The World's Washington special says: It is rumored that the peace commissioners had asked permission to cross our lines, but no reply had reached them.

The Times' special says it is reported that Blair had returned from Richmond.

The Richmond Whig of the 10th reports an interview between the commissioners of exchange, but does not know the result.

Dates from Mexico to the 28th show the Republican troops still giving the Imperialists plenty to do. Between 4 and 5,000 of the Emperor's soldiers were defeated by the Republicans at Etta. The reported defeat of the Republicans under Ortega, was unfounded. Throughout all of Southern Mexico supporters of Juarez are very actice, and in one town the Imperial garrison had revolted, put the Prefect to death, and joined the Republicans.

Louisville Jan. 12th.

The Journal learns that a few days ago the rebel Maj. Taylor sent a flag of truce into Hardingsburg, offering to assist the home guards to protect that town against guerrillas. His offer was accepted and he is now operating in conjunction with Union guards against Davidson's gang.

THE "Hop" given by the Y. M. L. Association last evening, was the realization of another of those friendly and social reunions for which the members of this society are noted. All who "are favored" have never experienced any other than real enjoyment at these parties, and always depart from the hall with the best wishes for the prosperity of the enterprise in which the young men of S. L. City have enlisted their efforts; and as for the dance, why naught is said, but "let it go merrily on."

SENATOR CONNESS.—Simonton, the New York correspondent of the Bulletin, writes of a rumor there December 1st, that Senator Conness was to be made Secretary of the Interior, in place of Judge Usher, who is to be made United States District Judge for Illinois. Judge David Davis, the present incumbent of that office, to be elevated to the Supreme Court of the United States.—Stockton Independent.

We hope the rumor is true. Senator Conness is a gentleman of great force of character and intense loyalty, and would do honor to any position in the gift of the President.

REVERDY JOHNSON SEEING IT.—The following appears in the Philadelphia Telegraph of November 23d from Reverdy Johnson:

I am delighted to hear the result of the late election. A new era is now dawning upon our State. Slavery ended, and she will be, as Washington said she would be in that event, the "garden spot" of the United States. He said so in a letter to St. John Lincoln in 1796. If it is done also in the whole country, as I think it will be, great as our prosperity has been in the past, and high as has been our name with the nations of the world, both will be immeasurably, almost, enhanced. God grant it may be so.

N. B. Particular attention paid to outfitting Miners, Traders, etc. jan14tf

I. O. O. F.

THE members of the I. O. O. F. are requested to meet at the rooms of the Y. M. L. Association in Salt Lake City, on TUESDAY evening, January 17th, 1865, at seven o'clock, to consider the propriety and expediency of establishing a Lodge of the Order in this City. A full attendance is desired.

January 14.

Local Matters.

Mr. John Weeks, from San Francisco, has just unpacked the largest lot of gold and silver wathes. and the most complete assortment of jewelry ever brought to this market. He has some splendid watches, and his ladies jewelry is magnificent. His stock is not only extensive, but his goods are of the very best quality, such as are very much wanting in the jewelry line in Utah.

A meeting of the members of the I. O. O. F. is announced for Tuesday evening next, at the hall of the Y. M. L. Association, in S. L. City. It is to be hoped that sufficient interest can be manifested as to warrant the procuring of the char ter for a permanent lodge in the city. It is a praiseworthy society and should be numbered among the "new institutions of Utah."

The "Mansion House" has passed into the hands of Mr. W. B. Welton, who has refitted and refurnished it and has rendered it a first class house. His tables will always be laid with everything good in the markets. and his prices cannot displease either the transient or the permanent patron. In fact, Mr. Welton is a gentleman and "knows how to keep a hotel."

Mr. G. McFarland has opened a large stock of choice wines and liquors. to which he invites the patronage of the public. We never indulge ourselves, but from the saying which reaches us from those who do and those who have "smiled" with him. we know that his brandy. whisky. wine and a host of other drinkables, are first rate.

Corporal Matlock of Co. "A," 1st Batt., Nev. Cav., now stationed at Fort Bridger, while at this post attending a court martial. has "killed two birds with one stone." While sojourning with us he has enlisted some twenty recruits for the above company.

We commence to-day in another part of our paper, the publication of an essay read by Fred. Livingston, of Co. "B," 3rd Batt. Infy. C. V., in Garrison Lodge, I. O. G. T., at this post.

Lee & Shoebridge are selling large quantities of goods. Their prices are easy, and their manner of doing business agreeable.

Messrs. Shaw & Clark, of S. L. City. are agents for several valuable and useful recipes.

The "Union Varieties" will perform in our Camp Theater on Monday evening next.

PRICE OF GOLD.

Coin—210.
Dust—Virginia $35.50; Boise $33.

NOTICE.

THE Irishman, a liberal paper printed at Dublin, commenting upon the Florida affair and the thunders of the London press, hits the nail squarely on the head in the following paragraph:

But what power is this that dares to stand forward as the champion of Brazil? England, who, only a few days ago, herself violated in the most wanton and audacious manner the integrity of the Brazilian flag, outraged Brazilian subjects, and seized in Brazilian waters Brazilian ships. For this outrage, England has made no reparation, offered no apology, although the King of the Belgians, to whom the matter was referred for arbitration, pronounced the conduct of England to be unjustifiable. The capture of the Florida may have been justifiable or the reverse—we can offer no opinion until in full possession of the facts; but in either case, the question which it raises is one which the governments of the United States and of Brazil are quite competent to determine, without the intervention of any other power. England, at all events, is "out of court," and by her own acts disqualified from interfering directly or indirectly.

WHEN punishment is deserved it is expected; and when it is expected, it is suffered.

BY THIS SIGN WE CONQUER.

"Whenever the way seems long,
Or the heart begins to fail,
We sing a more wonderful song,
And tell a more marvelous tale."

January 1, 1865.

TWENTY-SEVENTH ANNIVERSARY
OF
THE NEW YORK MERCURY.

THE PRIDE OF THE FIRESIDE.

In the prime of a vigorous intellectual manhood, the Phenix of the weeklies begins its flight for the new year, over the wrecks of its flagging and lifeless cotemporaries, with its eye fixed upon the sun, beneath which it owns no rivalry.

The war, which has toppled down whatever is shallow and baseless, has written no wrinkle on the bright regis of our success. Our features for the issue of 1865 shake the pillars of whatever has heretofore been deemed imperial in serial literature. Both sides of the Atlantic render us tribute. We shall continue the thrilling romances of Miss M. E. BRADDON, necromancer of the strong dark passions, to whom we pay more money annually than the entire capital of our imitators, and add to our American staff the champion jester of the cap and bells, JOSH BILLINGS, who will commence with the first of January a series of his well-known inimitable comic papers, written expressly for us, in his irresistably convulsive vein. HARRIET E. PRESCOTT, the most polished and imaginative sketch-writer living; P. T. BARNUM, the world-famed showman and autobiographer; Miss M. A. EARLE, FAIRFAX BALFOUR, DR. J. H. ROBINSON, and "NED BUNTLINE," renowned and versatile novelette-writers, will eke out the sparkling contributions of such facile poets, fuilletonists, humorists, critics, travelers, paragraphists, etc., as GEORGE ARNOLD, W. D. EATON, MILLI. W. CARPENTER, GEORGE ALFRED TOWNSEND, JULIA S INGRAHAM, EDWARD WILLETT, GEORGE MARTIAL, JOSEPH BARBER, J. A. PRITEN, and others, numerous enough and clever enough to run all the newspapers on the Continent.

The vivid pencils of DARLEY, MCLENAN, and WHITE, the first draughtsmen of the age, will make the new volume pictorial, and whatever of fugitive or meteoric note may appear during the year, will at once be engaged and made available.

In addition to its crisp and telling editorials; its delectable Gossipers' Club, in which the aptest and wittiest poems, caricatures, and burlesques of the time first appear; and its coquettish Ladies' Promenade to which all the mothers, sweethearts, daughters, wives and widows of the land subscribe their experiences, THE NEW YORK MERCURY will continue the faithful and cogent highly illustrative of the oldest, ablest and artfulest folk of the era; the GREAT FASHION ARTICLE by JENNIE JUNE, whose sprightly notes upon the latest and most perfect New York modes are suggestive to leaders of society everywhere, and universally consulted both in the metropolis and throughout the country; and commence a series of illustrated SKETCHES OF GROTESQUE ADVENTURES IN FOREIGN CLIMES DURING THE WAR, by ALFRED TRAMPLE; as well as HINTS UPON COOKERY by HENRY GOSLING, the metropolitan cuisinier.

The first of the year will inaugurate the thrilling original novelette by Doctor J. H ROBINSON, entitled; which will be followed by a splendid new story by Miss M. E BRADDON, written expressly for THE NEW YORK MERCURY.

ALETHE;
OR THE CHILD OF THE CORD,

Notwithstanding the upward march of every luxury and consumption, and our enormously increased outlay for the year 1865, the Star Paper of the Republic, with its forty columns of sterling original matter, will continue to be issued at six cents a copy, and sold by all newsmen and periodical-dealers in America. Its long and honorable history insures its subscribers against the casualties and fatalities which have swept so many mushroom journals off the board, and left their patrons disconsolate at the loss of their money.

To mail-subscribers our terms are:

Cash in advance: Single copies, $2.50 a year; three copies $7; six copies, $13; nine copies, $20. The party who sends us $20 for a club of nine copies will receive an additional copy free. Six months' subscriptions received. Canada subscribers must send twenty cents extra for each subscription, to pay the American postage.

Subscribers should be careful to write plainly the name of their post-office, county and State. Specimen copies sent free to all applicants. Address, CAULDWELL & WHITNEY,
Proprietors of The New York Mercury,
Nos. 48 Ann street and 113 Fulton street,
New York City.

☞ Proprietors of Newspapers giving the above Prospectus five or more insertions, with an editorial notice, will be entitled to have two copies of THE NEW YORK MERCURY sent for one year, to any address they may indicate.
